Rel. # 1

Due to heavy rains and flooding throughout the day, Brunswick County declared a State of Emergency at 5:30 PM, September 27, 2010.

As the water levels rise, all persons are advised not to travel unless travel is absolutely necessary, as in getting to a shelter or other critical movement. Many roads have become impassable as indicated by the list at the end of this notice. Many more may also be closed or in danger of being closed, as rainfall has accumulated over the past 24 hours.

Water has accumulated in low-lying areas and along streams and other waterways. As more rain has fallen, water has breached many roadways and has caused erosion in varying degrees along the roadways where the water has crossed the roadways or sped through the road culverts used for runoff.

NEVER TRAVEL INTO MOVING WATER. There is no assurance that the roadway support has not been compromised by the moving water, and water levels only indicate the top level of the moving water, not the depth of the moving water. Vehicles can easily be swept from the roadway by moving water and extraction from these vehicles will be extremely difficult, if not impossible.

Brunswick County Emergency Service continues to monitor the situation and will post further notices as prudent.
